About the Presenters

Pamela Jacobs, J.D. is the Executive Director of the South Carolina Coalition Against Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault (SCCADVASA). Ms. Jacobs is an attorney and advocate who has dedicated her career to ending sexual and domestic violence. Her professional experience includes representing victims in family law and immigration proceedings, leading a team addressing the needs of underserved communities, and providing over 200 trainings to multi-disciplinary professionals on issues impacting survivors of sexual and domestic violence. In addition to her advocacy experience, she has served as a law clerk in both state and federal court, and as an adjunct professor. She can be reached at pjacobs@sccadvasa.org or (803) 256-2900.

Megan Monts has a B.A. in Anthropology and a minor in Spanish from the University of South Carolina. She has experience in giving trainings on elder abuse and elder sexual assault to prosecutor and victim's advocates, and is certified through the Office on Violence Against Women to train law enforcement officials. Megan volunteered at Sexual Trauma Services of the Midlands as a Victim's Advocate for two years before joining the staff in March of 2012 as the Abuse in Later Life Program Coordinator. She is currently earning her Master's in Social Work at the University of South Carolina, and also conducts research in the field of Public Health.
