It is critically important to understand how to provide reasonable accommodations that help survivors with disabilities access services. However, the voices of those with disabilities need to be heard when considering how accommodations are provided. By utilizing a disability justice perspective, this conference will provide information and discussion opportunities for advocates to learn how to involve individuals with disabilities more directly in the assessment of service needs and service care standards.

This training will provide attendees with the knowledge of how to ensure services are accessible and address disability justice principles including:

- Intersectionality
- Recognizing Wholeness
- Sustainability
- Leadership of Those Most Impacted
- Centeredness in Community Support & Intervention
- Commitment to Cross-Movement Organizing

Featured Speakers:

- Stephanie Woodward
  Crime Victims Attorney & Disability Rights Advocate

- Justine "Justice" Shorter
  Disability Justice Advocate & Black Disabled Lives Matter Amplifier

- Olga Trujillo
  International Speaker on the Impacts of IPV Trauma & Author: "The Sum of My Parts"

- Tristen Taggart
  Agender Antiviolence Activist, Disability & Trauma Project Coordinator at FORGE

People with disabilities are 3X more likely to experience violent victimization. For more detailed information and statistics, visit: https://bit.ly/EndAbuseStatistics